Flora Staal Hartog, who founded F. Staal, the Fifth Avenue jewelry store, 50 years ago and ran it until she retired in 1983, died yesterday at her home in Forest Hills,

Queens. She was 87 years old.

She died of lung cancer, her family said.

Mrs. Hartog came to New York from her native Amsterdam in 1940. With her husband, Jacob, and their two sons, she escaped three days after the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands in May 1940 and soon reached the United States by way of England.

She was the daughter of Abraham Staal, a prominent antiques dealer in Amsterdam. Her store, established a few months after her arrival in New York, originally sold china and silver but evolved later into a retail jewelry business. After several decades on Fifth Avenue the store recently moved to East 57th Street and is now run by her son Albert, of Chester, N.J. Her husband went into the food business and became chairman of Hartog Foods International.

She is also survived by another son, Jack, of Manhattan; four grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Notes for Jacob Salomon (Jaap) Hartog:

Obtained a Doctor of Philosophy in Trade/Commerce from the University of Rotterdam. Fled from the Netherlands on 13th May 1940 because of the German invasion. He lived in New York for 42 years. In New York he commenced working for Dutch Bankers, organising money transactions. Then he started a business in the paper trade and from there went into import business in frozen fruits and fruit concentrates. The business was continued by his son Jack and his grandson Jacky. Jaap was still very lucid at the age of 95, but had difficulty walking. He always lived in the centre of New York city. Never learned to type, always had secretaries!

I have downloaded his family registration card from the Amsterdam Archive, as also attached;

I read the following data from that document:

Mozes Staal, born 27 Feb 1864 in Amsterdam, married 4 July 1889 in Amsterdam to Sara Lea Querido. Mozes died in Amsterdam 13 Sept 1938.

Sara Lea Querido was born 1 July 1867 (please decipher the year yourself too), in Amsterdam and died there 26 April 1930.

It is therefore that you can see in column 9 a scratch through the letter H (Huwelijk = marriage) and replaced by the letter W (widower) on the line of Mozes Staal. Mozes was a diamond polisher and merchant/dealer.

There were two daughters: Elisabeth Staal and Catharina Staal.

Elisabeth was born 22 March 1890. She has been de-registered from her father's family registration card on 8 May 1926, probably to get married to Coenraad Polak, who was born 1883. In that case, she had her own familycard on Coenraad Polak.

Catharina was born 24 Jan 1892 and had been de-registered from her father's family registration card on 1 March 1918, most likely to be married to Henri Barkelo who was born 1891.

On Digitaal Monument I did not find anything about Elisabeth Staal or Coenraad Polak. But I found the family from Henri Barkelo as follows:

Henri Barkelo, born Amsterdam, 13 October 1891 - killed in Auschwitz, 30 September 1942

Head of family

Flora Barkelo, born Amsterdam, 30 May 1920 - killed in Auschwitz, 30 September 1942 - Daughter

Suze Barkelo, born Amsterdam, 31 May 1922 - killed in Auschwitz, 30 September 1942 - Daughter

Salomon Barkelo, born Amsterdam, 21 April 1930 - killed in Auschwitz, 9 August 1942 - Son

Wife has survived the war as well one relative survived the war.

I think this is the Henri Barkelo who was listed on the family registration card of Mozes Staal, living in Febr. 1941 at Jodenbreestraat nr. 77 downfloor. Further information on that family is on that website page:

We have been unable to determine whether one or more members of this family survived the war. While their names do not appear on the lists of survivors, we have not been able to trace them in In Memoriam either. They are therefore labeled as 'surviving' and their names are not listed.

In addition, a Jokos file (number 50130) on this family is at the Amsterdam Municipal Archive. Access is subject to authorization from the Stichting Joods Maatschappelijk Werk. The Jokos file reveals that a claim was lodged for compensation for looted securities or bonds. (W-claim, number C 22 / 73).

Notes for Esther (Hester) van Joseph Dias Brandao: Burial card 17028

Ester Joseph Brandao, wife of Raphael Mordechay van Jacob Morpurgo, was born 10 Feb 1788. This date of birth came from Bobbe. However her own burial card 17028 shows a jewish date of 2 Adar 5545 which is 12 Feb 1785. (despite that on her burial card is typed the civil d.o.b. as 10 Feb.1785).

For the time being, I stick to 10 Feb 1788, but I made a note about the alternative d.o.b.

Esther (Hester) van Joseph Dias Brandao and Raphael Mordechay Mordechai Semaria Morpurgo had the following children:

- i. Jacob Morpurgo was born on 30 Sep 1811 in Amsterdam N H Nederlands. He died in 1885 in Amsterdam N H Nederlands. He married Leah (Leentje) Vieijra. She was born in 1817 in Leiden ZH Nederland. She died on 21 Mar 1871 in Amsterdam NH Nederland.
